Excellence in Natural Resources Law

Advancing understanding of the laws and issues affecting the development of mineral, energy, and water resources since 1955.

The Rocky Mountain Mineral Law Foundation is a collaborative, educational, non-profit organization dedicated to the scholarly and practical study of the laws and regulations relating to oil and gas, mining, energy, public lands, water, environmental protection, and international law. Through our educational programs, we bring together lawyers, landmen, managers, consultants, government personnel, law faculty, students, and others involved in the practice, application, and study of these areas of law.

Our programs include

- Institutes, short courses, workshops, webinars, and other virtual programs (domestic and international) focusing on relevant legal developments and issues
- Online natural resources educational programming for lawyers and other resources professionals
- Publications such as the Landman's Legal Handbook, American Law of Mining, Law of Federal Oil and Gas Leases, the Proceedings of our Annual Institutes, International Petroleum Law and Transactions, Gower Federal Services, RMMLF Journal, Mineral Law Newsletter, Water Law Newsletter, and various books, model forms, and other special materials
- The online Digital Library, which puts six decades of scholarship at your fingertips
- Grants to promote scholarship, research, writing, teaching, and the study of natural resources law and related fields
- Travel funding for law professors and practitioners to lecture and teach at other law schools
- Scholarships for qualified law students at Foundation constituent law schools who demonstrate interest in pursuing careers in natural resources law

Over the last half-century, the voluntary efforts of our members have built the Foundation into a global learning community of colleagues and friends, known worldwide for its expertise, objectivity, and practicality.

Consider becoming a member and joining our network of individuals, law firms, companies, government agencies, and organizations dedicated to supporting legal scholarship in the natural resources community.
